

INSOLVENCY

We offer specialist advice in contentious and non-contentious insolvency work and corporate transactions. We can provide specialist advice to individuals, companies or insolvency practitioners both before and after the onset of bankruptcy or liquidation.

Avoiding insolvency

We can advise on credit control procedures, and our debt recovery department provides a swift, cost-effective collection service from letter before action to enforcement.

Bankruptcy

We have established excellent working relationships with many local insolvency practitioners. This enables us to:

- advise clients how to reach an arrangement with creditors;
- if unsuccessful, we can advise clients about individual or partnership voluntary arrangements. We can guide you through the procedures and introduce you to a local insolvency practitioner who will prepare your proposal to put before the court;
- alternatively we can assist with regard to voluntary bankruptcy.

Liquidation/Administration

- We can advise directors about Company Voluntary Arrangements, Administrative Receiverships and Administration.
- Also we can advise on Creditors' Voluntary and Members' Voluntary liquidations.
- Company winding-up orders can be converted into Company Voluntary Arrangements
- Companies accidentally struck off can be restored to the register
- We advise directors who are the subject of claims under the Directors Disqualification Act 1986

Insolvency practitioners

- We can advise on the recovery of property transferred at an undervalue.
- We trace assets and creditors who have been preferred;
- We assist Supervisors in converting failed IVAs and CVAs into bankruptcies and liquidations;
- We advise insolvency practitioners to enable the assets of a company in liquidation or individual in bankruptcy to be sold prior to the meeting of creditors, attending court and drafting the necessary documents, negotiating with the HM Revenue and Customers creditors and others
- We collect book debts
