

PERSONAL INSOLVENCY

Our specialist solicitors have established excellent working relationships with a number of local insolvency practitioners and frequently receive instructions to advise on bankruptcies and individual voluntary arrangements (IVAs). This enables us to:

- advise debtors how to reach an arrangement with creditors; and
- if unsuccessful, advise debtors about individual or partnership voluntary arrangements. We can guide you through the procedures and introduce you to a local insolvency practitioner who will prepare your proposal to put before the court;
- alternatively, we can assist with voluntary bankruptcy.

We regularly advise insolvency practitioners, creditors, debtors and trustees in bankruptcy. Offering a wide range of services we have significant experience in the following areas:

- issuing and opposing bankruptcy proceedings
- applications to annul bankruptcy orders
- serving/defending statutory demands
- applications to set aside statutory demands
- the validity and enforceability of personal guarantees
- applications for IVAs
- advising on termination and variation of IVAs
- acting for IVA supervisors
- advising on preference claims and transactions at an undervalue
- advising trustees in bankruptcy generally
